Audencia's foundation (under the auspices of la Fondation de France) was created in 2009. It aims to consolidate and develop the school's influence and to encourage social and cultural inclusion thanks to scholarships. The campaign launched in 2013 has raised almost €10m, mostly from companies.

TEACHING AND RESEARCH

Audencia Business School's teaching and research activities are organized into five departments

- Business & Society
- Communication & Culture
- Finance
- Management
- Marketing

Audencia Business School's research laboratory is called Rn'B (Research and Business) to underline the strategy of developing academic research that is useful for companies and society. This laboratory also welcomes faculty from Centrale Nantes.

Audencia Business School has five research chairs co-financed by companies

- Corporate Social Responsibility
- Family Entrepreneurship and Society
- Managerial Innovations
- Corporate Communications and Digital Transformation
- HR and Social Innovations in the Cultural Sector

The Centrale-Audencia-Ensa Nantes Alliance

The structural alliance with the Ecole Centrale and the Ecole Nationale Supérieure d'Architecture de Nantes takes the form of a non-profit making association.

For almost 10 years, Audencia and Centrale Nantes, joined by Ensa Nantes in 2013, have capitalized on their synergies and respective strengths to enrich teaching, research, company relations and their international scope.

Strengthening the integration of these activities between the three schools, a process new to France, allows them to offer double degree courses.
